CD PASS: Knowing You've Done All You Can and Feeling Good About It

Corlisse Thomas, Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs

Marco Dinovelli, Student Affairs Coordinator

Baruch College

As members of Behavioral Intervention Teams we often have the unenviable task of making difficult decisions, with limited information. When a decision is deemed to be “wrong” the two questions that undoubtedly will be asked are “why did you make this decision?” and “what more could you have done?” This program will address how the campus forms a solid base of information so that staff and faculty feel confident that they have done all they could in a crisis.
