Violence Risk Assessment and Intervention with a Proven Assessment Tool

Presented by James S. Cawood, CPP, PCI, PSP

This session will introduce the Assessment and Response Grids, a tool for violence risk assessment and intervention that has been used by organizations throughout North America since 1993. Based in the empirical literature, the Grids provide a quick way to organize behavioral data into a risk level (low, moderate, high) and then determine next steps for intervention and case management. The session will include a practical exercise so that attendees can leave the session with the means to return to their organization and apply what they have learned to their cases.

- Assessment Grid
- Restraining Orders
