Early Alert Program: A Comprehensive Approach to Academic and Behavioral Intervention

Peggy S. Scott, Director, Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities

Whitney Koltanski, Early Intervention Coordinator, Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities

Stephen F. Austin State University

The Early Alert Program was established to improve the quality of academic and behavioral intervention strategies at Stephen F. Austin State University. This program integrates the efforts of departments across campus, including the BIT, medical and mental health professionals, and academic assistance resources, in an attempt to most efficiently identify and intervene with at-risk students. Cases are managed along three intervention tracks: behavioral, attendance, and academic.
